TeleEye Donating Video Surveillance Equipment to Produce Green Foundation

Produce Green Foundation is a non-profit charity organization established to promote organic farming and green lifestyles in Hong Kong. Every year, it organizes various activities to encourage the community to experience the natural way of life through participating in organic farming or gardening. Events include environmental seminars, courses and training for people of different age groups.

The office at its Fanling organic farm had been a very peaceful base for the Foundation to carry out its mission and goals. However, for the past few years, the office had encountered security problems and was burglarized several times. Computers and hard disks were targeted and as a result, the foundation had lost important files and data. To avoid such unfortunate incident from happening again, a professional video surveillance system is highly required.

TeleEye has always been supportive in providing sponsorships and funds to charities. Moreover, it is dedicated to protecting the environment through donating to organizations such as WWF and has been taking various environmental friendly measures in its offices to promote a green environment. To support Produce Green Foundation in its surveillance needs, TeleEye has donated a RX Video Recording Server and Video Reception Software for the foundation so that high quality video surveillance could be achieved, enabling better protection and security to the farm.

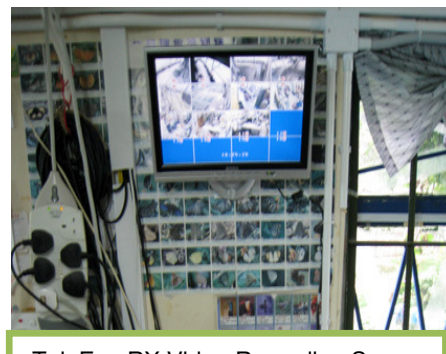

Produce Green Foundation was thankful for TeleEye's kind support and impressed by the TeleEye Video Recording Server and Video Recording Software as it fulfills their needs for local monitoring and recording. It greatly enhanced their security and protection level of the farm. TeleEye is proud to be able to assist the foundation and provide a more secured farming environment for the community.
